

ANNUAL WORK-A-THON

for PEACE and SOCIAL JUSTICE

SAT., MAY 18, 2013

Support affordable student housing and two nonprofit organizations

TWO WAYS TO HELP:

1. Volunteer for a day of community service at the nonprofit Wesley House Student Residence, which provides affordable housing and other support for low-income and special needs students at SDSU. Residents include 1st-generation college students and former foster care youths who face special challenges at college. Wesley House gives them extra help that will enable them to succeed at school and in life. Volunteers also get sponsors who match their labor with donations benefiting Project YANO and the Peace Resource Center (see below.)

2. Sponsor a volunteer worker. Your donation as a sponsor will give encouragement to those donating their labor and also benefit two non-profit groups: the Project on Youth and Non-Military Opportunities (Project YANO) and the Peace Resource Center of San Diego.

WORK-A-THON VOLUNTEERS – The tasks that will be done on May 18 include painting a semi-enclosed car port and storage area, trimming overgrown trees and shrubs, and removing weeds on the property. Location: on Hardy Avenue, immediately adjacent to S.D. State University. Time frame: 9 AM to mid-afternoon (people can work all or part of this). Workers are asked to solicit sponsorships from family members, friends, employers, etc., to match their contribution of labor with a donation. To volunteer as a worker, please complete and return the bottom coupon now and an information packet will be sent to you. You should begin collecting sponsorships right away using the form on the back of this flier to record the information.

WORK-A-THON SPONSORS – Sponsors contribute money in support of a volunteer worker. You can sponsor a specific worker whom you know, or fill out the coupon below and we'll match your sponsorship with a volunteer. Contributions are tax-deductible. Please indicate the amount you are contributing and send the coupon along with your check made out to "PRC/Work-a-thon."

■ The Project on Youth and Non-Military Opportunities (Project YANO)

Project YANO sends speakers into local high schools to counter the presence of military recruiters and present alternatives for job training, community service and college financial aid. Project YANO encourages young people to become active in efforts to solve community and global problems and to consider careers in peacemaking and social change. Project YANO also provides training and resources to similar organizations nationally.

■ The Peace Resource Center of San Diego

The Peace Resource Center, formed in 1980, works to promote peace and social justice by nonviolent means through a variety of community programs and activities. The PRC also provides resources and serves as a clearing-house for groups and individuals on peace and social justice issues.

For more information, contact the Peace Resource Center (info@prcsd.org, 619-263-9301) or Project YANO (760-634-3604).

Complete one of the sections below and return coupon to: Work-a-thon, c/o PRC, 3850 Westgate Pl., San Diego, CA 92105.

VOLUNTEERS return ASAP, but no later than May 8 (a packet will be mailed to you). SPONSORS return by May 16.

I WILL DONATE MY LABOR to the work-a-thon. (Use the sponsor sign-up form on the reverse side to record contributions you collect.) The tasks for this work-a-thon will be painting, trimming trees and shrubs and weed removal. Please note if you have any relevant special skills or gardening tools you can bring (not required):

I WILL SPONSOR A WORKER. Please match my contribution with a volunteer. Enclosed is: $_____ (E.g., a contribution of CA min. wage, $8/hour, for six hours of labor would equal $48.) Make checks out to: PRC/Work-a-thon. (Tax-deductible)
